CURRICULUM

Introduction Package

1 - Universal design – Introduction to a design principle that challenges the idea of being human

Reference: Ryhl, Camilla, Eiriksson, Marie, Overby Sørensen, René (2021) Universal design – introduction to a design principle that challenges the idea of being human. Universal Design Hub – Bevica Fonden.

Format: Text (6 pages)

Keywords: Universal Design, 7 Principles, 8 Goals, History, Ron Mace

Description: This article introduces the concept of Universal Design – its origins, scientific context, and application. It introduces the 7 key principles and 8 goals of Universal Design and exemplifies how they might be addressed in different areas of society.

2 - Webinar (3) - Universal design: From vision to practice in everyday life in the Nordic countries

Reference: VIVE (2023) Webinar (3) - Universal design: From vision to practice in everyday life in the Nordic countries. Presentation by Camilla Ryhl: Universal Design and Human Diversity - a Danish Perspective (25:35 - 43:30).

Format: Video (18 minutes – Selected time span: 25:35 - 43:30)

Keywords: Universal Design, History, Danish Context, Leave No One Behind

Description: In this video, Research Director at the Bevica Foundation, Camilla Ryhl, provides a keynote speech, sharing experiences and reflections about the historical development and visions for the future development of universal design in Denmark. During her presentation, Camilla highlights the ambitions and initiatives in the Universal Design Hub – Bevica Foundation to proliferate the value-based term universal design to help fulfil the pledge Leave No One Behind from the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development.

3 - Nothing About Us Without Us

Reference: Charlton, James (2000) Nothing About Us Without Us. In: Nothing About Us Without Us: Disability Oppression and Empowerment. Berkeley, CA: University of California Press. Chapter 1, pp. 3-18.

Format: Text (15 pages)

Keywords: Disability Rights Movement, Disability Oppression, Lived Experience, Organization of Empowerment, History

Description: This book chapter is the introduction to the landmark book on disability Nothing About Us Without Us written by disability rights activist James Charlton. The chapter touches briefly on topics concerning the disability rights movement, disability oppression, lived experiences, and disability as a social construction. Overall, the book provides a theoretical overview of disability oppression that shows the similarities to, and differences from, racism, sexism, and colonialism.

4 - Models of disability: A short introduction

Reference: Falster, Emil (2023) Models of disability: A short introduction. Lunch Bag Lecture. Universal Design Hub – Bevica Fonden.

Format: Video (7 minutes)

Keywords: Theory, Models of Disability, Impairment Effects, Barriers and Solutions

Description: In this video, Post.doc. at the Bevica Foundation, Emil Falster, discusses three different models of disability: the medical model, the social model, and the relational model. He argues how our understanding of terms such as disability and impairment effects how we understand the barriers and challenges that people with impairments face every day – and how these understandings ultimately generate the solutions we conceive to create equal opportunities for participation.

5 - Ableism: A short introduction

Reference: Falster, Emil (2024) Ableism: A short introduction. Lunch Bag Lecture. Universal Design Hub – Bevica Fonden.

Format: Video (8 minutes)

Keywords: Ableism, "The Normal Body", Discrimination – Structural, Institutional, and Social

Description: Presenting his book titled "Ableism - Power, Human Perspective, and the Myth of the Normal Body.", Emil Falster briefly explains what the concept of Ableism is all about. Emil presents how Ableism can be briefly defined as the discrimination that arises from the preference for the so to speak, "able-bodied", "neurotypical", "healthy" or "normal" people. Ableism is the discrimination that occurs when we systematically favour "the normal". And as emphasised by Emil, this discrimination concretely manifests in a range of structural, institutional, and social frameworks and conditions which are created and designed for the "normal body" in our society.

Universal Design

1 - Universal design

Reference: Ryhl, Camilla (2022) Universal design. Universal Design Hub – Bevica Fonden.

Format: Video (3 minutes)

Keywords: Universal Design, History, Inclusion, Inclusive design, Design for all

Description: This video briefly summarizes the fundamentals of Universal Design. It examines the applicability of Universal Design and how it encompasses all aspects of our life. Ultimately, Universal Design is a value-based design principle that ensures equal and inclusive solutions for all – regardless of abilities.

Link: <https://universaldesignhub.dk/universal-design/>

2 - Universal design: An evolving paradigm

Reference: Ostroff, Elaine (2010) Universal design: an evolving paradigm. In: Universal Design Handbook. Preiser, Wolfgang & Ostroff, Elaine (eds.) New York: McGraw-Hill. Chapter 1, pp. 34-42.

Format: Text (10 pages)

Keywords: Universal Design, Convention on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities (CRPD), Historical and Cultural perspective

Description: Elaine Ostroff introduces Universal Design as an evolving paradigm and offers a historical and cultural perspective by examining Universal Design in different contexts such as Universal Design and Education, Universal Design and Business, Universal Design and Society.

Link: Access may be retrieved from your educational library.

3 - Per-Olof Hedvall on Universal Design

Reference: Hedvall, Per-Olof (2024) Universal design. Universal Design Hub – Bevica Fonden.

Format: Video (5 minutes)

Keywords: Universal Design, Accessibility, Usability, UN Convention on the Rights of People with Disability (CRPD), Swedish Context

Description: In this video, Professor of Design at Mid Sweden University, Per-Olof Hedvall, briefly argues how we need to work with accessibility, usability and universal design to raise awareness of what is important for whom, who can go where, do what, and contribute to which areas in society. Moreover, Per-Olof stresses how we need to seek out the variation of users, the outer edges of use, and situations of users. This needs to be done while actively asking questions - not only about who is present; who is here but struggles; but also who is absent, and why the so called non-users often are forgotten or left out.

4 - What is Universal Design?

Reference: Steinfeld, Ed & Maisel, Jordana (2012) What is Universal Design. University at Buffalo – Center for Inclusive Design and Environmental Access (IDEA).

Format: Text (8 pages)

Keywords: Universal Design, History, 7 Principles, 8 Goals, Overview of Universal Design

Description: On this webpage, Center for Inclusive Design and Environmental Access (IDEA) at University of Buffalo shortly describes the concept of Universal Design and its historical context and 7 principles, which were added in 1997 to clarify the scope of Universal Design. In addition, the webpage briefly exemplifies the 8 Goals of Universal Design developed by Ed Steinfeld and Jordana Maisel in 2012 to expand the conceptual framework of Universal Design beyond usability to include social participation and health, acknowledging the role of context in developing realistic applications.

5 - Accessibility, usability and universal design positioning and definition of concepts describing person-environment relationships

Reference: Iwarsson, Susanne & Ståhl, Agneta (2003) Accessibility, usability and universal design positioning and definition of concepts describing person-environment relationships, Disability & Rehabilitation, 25:2, 57-66.

Format: Text (9 pages)

Keywords: Accessibility, Usability, Method, Universal Design

Description: This paper introduces an instrumental, three-step definition to accessibility, emphasising that accessibility includes personal as well as environmental components. Proposing the introduction of an activity component, accessibility is replaced by a more complex term, usability. Universal Design is highlighted as a more process-oriented but less stigmatising concept.

6 - Universal Design and disability: An interdisciplinary perspective

Reference: Lid, Inger Marie (2013) Universal Design and disability: an interdisciplinary perspective. Disability and Rehabilitation, 36:16, 1344-1349.

Format: Text (6 pages)

Keywords: Interdisciplinary Field of Knowledge, Convention on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities (CRPD), Human Plurality

Description: This is a theoretical paper, which discusses the understanding of Universal Design as an interdisciplinary theme as well as the significance of Universal Design in research and teaching. The paper builds on literature and focuses on how to recognise Universal Design in interdisciplinary contexts.

Being Human

1 - Understanding Disability

Reference: Shakespeare, Thomas (2018) Understanding Disability. In: Disability: the basics. Routledge. Chapter 1.

Format: Text (24 pages)

Keywords: Understanding Disability, Disability Across Time and Place, Lived Experiences

Description: Disability: the basics is an introduction to disability as a multi-dimensional concept and explores the historical, social, environmental, economic, and legal factors which effect experiences of people living with impairments in modern-day society. It offers an understanding of the lived experiences of disabled people and underline continuing gaps and barriers in social responses to the challenge of disability.

Link: Access may be retrieved from your educational library.

2 - The Myth of Average

Reference: Rose, Todd (2013) The Myth of Average: Todd Rose at TEDxSonomaCounty.

Format: Video (18 minutes)

Keywords: One-dimensional metrics, Jagged size profile, Learning environments, Technology, Talent

Description: In this TED Talk, Todd Rose argues that if you design for the average sized person, you design for nobody. According to Rose we all have "a jagged size profile", meaning that our body dimensions such as height, weight and waist are not the same on every dimension. Ultimately, Rose argues how we ought to ban the average and generate designs that accommodate for the edges of dimensions.

3 - Disability as a human condition discussed in a theological perspective

Reference: Lid, Inger Marie (2012) Disability as a human condition discussed in a theological perspective. Diaconia. Journal for the Study of Christian Social Practice. Vol. 3.

Format: Text (14 pages)

Keywords: Understanding Disability, Disability Across Time and Place, Lived Experiences, Law, Politics

Description: This article discusses the understanding of disability as a notion of human diversity that includes disability as a human condition. From a disability studies perspective, a medical understanding of disability has been criticised for the absence of disabling structures in society. Lid argues that inclusive concepts of humanity must guide law and politics.

Reference: Boys, Jos (2016) Doing Dis/ability and Architecture Differently? AA School of Architecture.

Format: Video (1 hour 28 minutes)

Keywords: Perspectives on disability, Architecture, Gender, Understanding of normal

Description: In this video, Jos Boys discusses what can happen to architecture and its practices when 'normal' (and normative) assumptions about disability and ability are creatively and critically challenged. The video investigates our perceptions of normalcy, disability, and ability in the context of architecture.

5 - Crip Camp

Reference: Crip Camp (2020) Higher Ground Productions.

Format: Video (1 hour 46 minutes)

Keywords: Discrimination, Disability Rights Movement, Activism, Empowerment, History

Description: In the early 1970s, teenagers with disabilities faced a future shaped by isolation, discrimination, and institutionalization. This movie tells the story about one group of disabled young people and their journey to activism and adulthood, and in doing so, provides an opportunity for all to delve into the rich and complicated history of disability activism, culture, and history.
